

WOULD DRIVE GRAFT FROM NATION

Thomas W. Lawson First to Enlist in Organization of Law and Order Committee to Drive All Crooked Bosses From Political Life; Would Aid in Starting Necessary Fund.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) ALBANY, New York, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—L. J. Arnold, publisher of the Albany Knickerbocker Press, and one of Governor Sulzer's closest counselors, announced today that he will undertake to form a national law and order committee to drive Governor Sulzer, "drives graft out of our public life and punish the political bosses to the fullest possible extent under the law."

Arnold's announcement embodies a telegram received by him from Thomas W. Lawson, now at Princeton, Oregon, volunteering to be one of the few men to supply the necessary starting fund, and it must be a big one, to make the fight a winning one.

Glynn still adheres to his expressed determination not to engage in a personal contest either over possession of the Executive suite or its documents, and apparatus. He insists that it is of no importance what room he occupies in the Capitol and that the privy seal of Governor Sulzer is of no particular consequence. By advice of the attorney general he is having made a special privy seal to use on official documents.

Glynn learned with interest today that Attorney General Hogan of Ohio has advised the officials of that State to recognize him as the acting Governor of New York. There was considerable speculation as to whether this might have on the case of Lewis Lauch's papers, for extradition to Cleveland, which were signed yesterday by Governor Sulzer.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST SULZER IS ALLEGED

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) ALBANY, New York, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—That a conspiracy was hatched by Wall Street and Tammany Hall to get Governor Sulzer hopelessly entangled in their clutches, a conspiracy with a woman as its unwilling victim, will be charged as a basis of the defense of the impeached Governor if the impeachment comes to trial.

Sulzer and his counsel confidently hope that it will not. They believe that the action of the assembly will be declared unconstitutional and that the impeachment court will never assemble.

The high points of the conspiracy story upon which Sulzer has built his hopes of a complete vindication are these:

That while Sulzer was away campaigning, Matthew T. Horgan, who was living at the Sulzer home and keeping Charles F. Murphy informed of events, gave Mrs. Sulzer the tip on Big Four. At that time Sulzer was in debt $45,000, and Mrs. Sulzer saw an opportunity to rehabilitate the family finances by acting on this market tip. She was assured it could not go wrong.

Campaign finances were coming in large amounts and she took the checks, regarding her act as a legitimate temporary loan and bought stocks. Her bank books and memoranda of these transactions were stolen so she would be unable to furnish proof of her acts if ever called upon to do so.

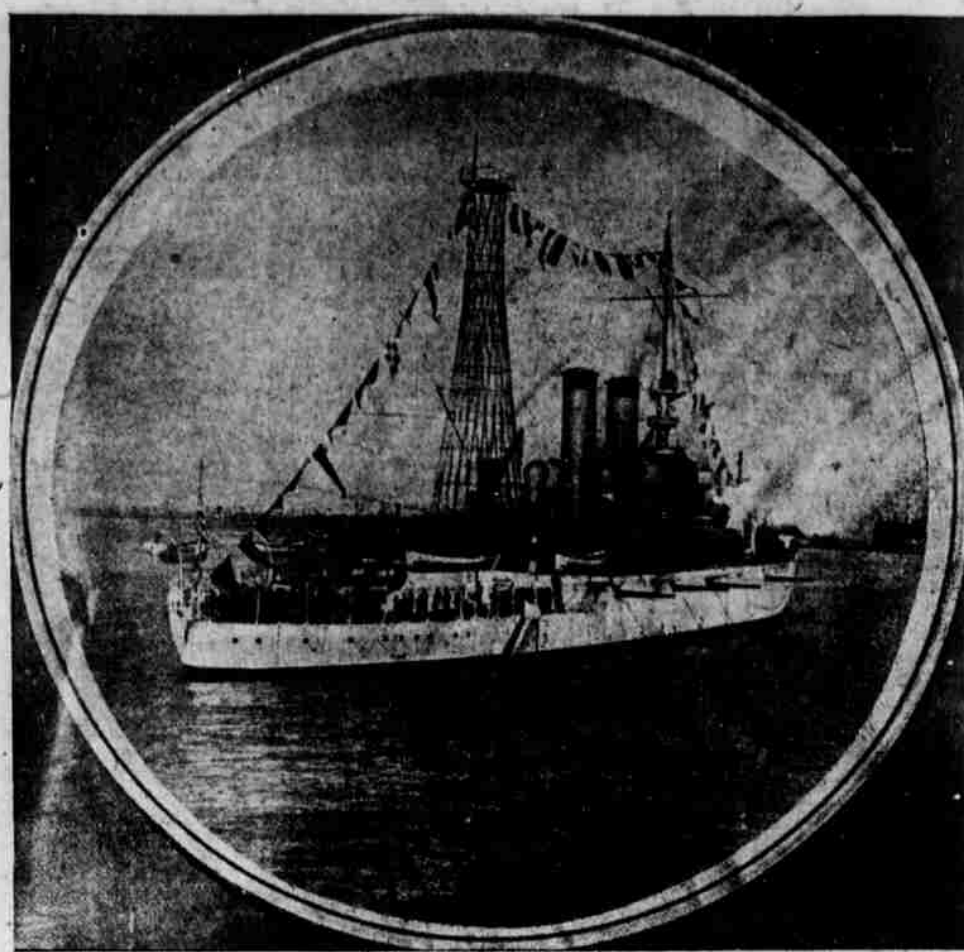

It is claimed that Louis A. Sarecky, Sulzer's private secretary, had full knowledge of all these transactions, and aided Mrs. Sulzer in carrying out her plan to rehabilitate her husband's finances. He is looked to by the Sulzer defense to take the stand and swear that Horgan gave Mrs. Sulzer the tip assuring her that she could not go wrong and that she was certain to make a profit of many thousands of dollars. Sulzer recently said that he has learned that during the time Horgan was living as a member of his family he was on intimate terms with Murphy.

BRITISH SEE DANGER OF LOSING TRADE

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) LONDON, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—A Blue Book was issued last night on the report of Allan Hay Milne, special board of trade commissioner, dealing with the probable effect on British trade in Central America on the opening of the Panama Canal.

Milne says there is a great diversity of opinion on the question that he believes that British trade can retain its position only as the result of constant vigilance in view of the tendency of the American republics to become increasingly dependent commercially on the United States.

Value of Preparedness Emphasized by Head of Navy in Address to World's Best Gunners.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) NEWPORT, Rhode Island, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Secretary Daniels presented the target practice pennant to the battleship Idaho, the crack ship of the Navy here today and read her officers and crew a lesson in preparedness. "There never is time to make ready in any truly great crisis in life," said the secretary in complimenting the crack gunners for their skill. "What is a growing Navy worth to us unless it is manned by men who live in a constant state of preparedness?"

SAYS JAPANESE ASK JUSTICE

S. Sheba, Sets Forth Grievances Against Inspector Halsey in Refusing Landing to Returning Excursionists and Non-Recognition of Hawaiian Birth Certificate.

(From Monday Advertiser) Editor The Advertiser:—The first thing that I refrain from doing and the last thing I attempt—and then only when I may be forced so to do—is criticism of government officials. This I keep always in mind as the duty I owe to the authority under whose protection I live, and also as an obligation toward the government of my mother country, for it is impossible for nations to be friendly if the subjects of one nation, migrating to the domain of another, disturb the peace of that country because of their discontent and disappointment.

My position in the present controversy between the local immigration officials and the Japanese press, of which I am a representative, is far from that of criticizing Uncle Sam's officials, nor is it my desire to wantonly attack them, but I am now forced to protect my own rights and those of my fellow countrymen.

Personally I am friendly with the officials in the local branch of the immigration station. Much courtesy has been shown to me by them and I have no complaint otherwise, nor have I any ax to grind. But the recent action of Mr. Halsey as the head of the service, and of the Board of Special Inquiry, seems to be intended to deprive us of our right of residence, and as a publisher I must fight for our common cause, for this is a great and grave question with us. And for me it will destroy the work to which I applied myself with heart and soul as an editor and a public man in this small community. The house that we have been building and to which I have contributed my humble share seems now as if it were but built of cards.

Our past endeavor to settle our countrymen in Hawaii and to make them attached to the soil becomes but a vain effort, if Mr. Halsey becomes an absolute czar in the matter of our residential rights.

Sheba's Contentions.

By the recent action with reference to the question of admissibility of the five Japanese residents, who joined an excursion party, the immigration authority of the port of Honolulu tried to deprive the resident Japanese of their freedom of travel. It has directly ignored the authority of the territorial government and the legislature by refusing to recognize a birth certificate issued by the secretary of the Territory and declared by the legislature to be prima facie evidence of Hawaiian birth. It has profoundly and most flagrantly trampled under its feet the higher authority of the United States district court by seemingly disregarding and overriding Judge Dole's rulings in similar cases.

We are not, therefore, attacking Mr. Halsey and the officials under him. It is he and his subordinates that have assailed the territorial government and the legislature, the United States court and our already meager rights.

Cites a Simile.

If the members of the Honolulu Ad Club should return from their present trip to Hilo at the scheduled hour, and if you should meet them at the wharf, would you consider them as Hiloites? Would you meet them as your dear Honolulu friends of yesterday? Or would you consider them as the latter, and if they be your friends, sisters, brothers or your better halves and sweethearts they will be welcomed by you with hand-shaking, kisses and embraces, and perhaps with hugging and "ligger-mugger" talks.

We do not ask for such an exorbitant show, but we merely and humbly ask to be landed. That's all there is to it.

The five Japanese who were ordered deported were and are residents of the Territory. They had heard of the success of the first excursion party and read the advertisements of the second party that was promoted and encouraged by the newspapers; they put up their money with the agent for their passages both ways and for other traveling expenses in Japan; they departed and returned on a certain steamer on a certain date as scheduled, just as the members of the Honolulu Ad Club did in their Volcano trip; they informed the local immigration authority of their intention before their departure and acted accordingly.

In other words, they are bona fide residents who went on an excursion to see their old country for a summer vacation. Yet the local immigration authority tried to hold them as immigrants and to apply the letters of the immigration law to these returning residents and to a boy holding a certificate of Hawaiian birth under which he is held as an American citizen.

Disease Not Denied.

The existence of trachoma and hookworm is not disputed, but these diseases are rather slow developing and might have been there before the vacation trip was contemplated. These sicknesses are prevalent among the Filipinos and others in Hawaii. Most likely they contracted them before they left here. Who can tell?

We own lands, homes and business in the Territory, and wish even to own allegiance to the Star Spangled Banner, if we are allowed. We are denied foreign residents. We have not been behind the other races in the performance of our duties toward the United States; in many respects we have shown the love of the country and expect to be Americans in our next generation. The difference between the men in question and ourselves is more than that they enjoyed their vacation in a foreign trip, while we have not been fortunate enough and stayed and worked in the heat and dust of Honolulu.

Now, then, where is the assurance for me and for any other Japanese, please, if Mr. Halsey can deport any foreign resident as he chooses? That is the bone of our contention.

Judge Dole's Ruling.

Judge Dole ruled repeatedly, if I am not mistaken, that certain provisions in the immigration law can not be applied to the domiciled foreign residents as we are. Is not the court's interpretation of the law higher than that of a chief inspector or a board of inquiry or inquiry? Mr. Halsey or the board has not appealed from Judge Dole's decision in similar cases, in exactly the same and identical point of law, or, if they have, no decision reversing his has been given by the higher court. Why, then, is Judge Dole's interpretation of the law unheeded?

The legislature has passed a law authorizing the secretary of the Territory to issue Hawaiian birth certificates to those applicants who can prove their birth in the Territory to the satisfaction of the secretary. It was further provided that these certificates shall be the prima facie evidence of the Hawaiian birth, and the Constitution of the United States gives those who were born within the domain of Uncle Sam the right of citizenship.

What the legislature of the people says does not go with Halsey, but he must be above it. What our prudent secretary of the Territory has given, is withdrawn by Halsey. He is nearer to Uncle Sam than a territorial executive. What does he care for Mott-Smith, though everybody likes and all respect Mott-Smith highly?

The "constitution" of the United States provides for the freedom of travel; but the Czar of Kankoo says "No."

Mr. Halsey lived in Japan; he speaks a little Japanese. I am sorry that he knows the Japanese only to hate them.

Mr. Halsey went to Japan to preach the Gospel. He is a missionary in a heathen land. I am sorry that he does not practise the Golden Rule towards the people he once taught to observe it. We are not seeking friction with the immigration authorities, nor do we wish to find for our home government cause with Washington; far from it, indeed, but we ask for justice and fairness in the hands of a representative of the great and just government instead of the present arbitrary, biased and unjust conduct and the Czar-like arrogance of the incumbent.

S. SHEBA.

Thaw Escapes in an Auto; Evelyn Fears for Her Life

Is Believed to be Headed for Europe

NEW YORK, August 17.—(By Associated Press Cable)—Harry K. Thaw, murderer of Stanford White, for the past three years or more an inmate of the criminal ward of the Matteawan Asylum for the insane, made a daring escape from that institution this morning. While the attendants were attending to the assembling of the patients in their charge Thaw slipped by a guard unnoticed, made his way quickly to the front entrance, leaped into a waiting automobile and a few moments later, with the alarm being sent broadcast, the noted criminal was a fugitive from justice. The machine was last seen headed for the Connecticut border.

No time was lost in sending out the alarm. Officers in every hamlet and city for miles leading out of New York has been notified and given a description of Thaw; the car in which he was riding and directing that no effort be spared at his recapture.

Though every possible avenue of escape is believed to be guarded it is thought that Thaw, through powerful friends who have been working for his release will succeed in getting out of the country and to Europe.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, divorced wife of Thaw, whose actions led to the murder of Stanford White, was one of the first to learn of Thaw's escape. She has sought police protection, fearing that Thaw, seeking revenge upon the one whom he charges with being the cause of all his misery and suffering, will attempt to murder her. Though the woman will be given protection the police do not believe that Thaw will attempt to molest her, his sole purpose being to make secure his escape from the institution from which his lawyers have fought in vain to free him for the past three years and for which the family of Thaw are said to have expended the greater portion of the Thaw fortune.

BREAKERS PLAY HAVOC WITH PARISIAN BATHING GOWN AND CAUSE SUNDAY FLURRY AT WAIKIKI BEACH

(From Monday Advertiser)

Opera and field glasses were much in evidence at Waikiki beach yesterday afternoon, those carrying them seeming to be under the general and hopeful impression that the young woman with the diaphanous skirt who created a sensation, the previous Sunday, might put in an appearance. In this they were disappointed, but they were able to direct their glasses on several novelties in bathing suits, among them being an adaptation of the split skirt.

One suit which, its owner informed her friends, came from France, did not belie the statement. It was a creation of silk and satin with several cunning effects in ribbons.

It seemed impossible to the women on the beach that the wearer of such a beautiful bathing suit had any intention of wetting it, but she had, and a gasp of consternation went up as she waded into the surf.

Naked, the wearer of this suit must have fought the suit in France, several seasons ago, for it was very apparent that it was built for a sylph like form, whereas the wearer was fair, less than forty, and not to be impolitely superfluous plump.

Feeling secure as a fish in water, the woman in question ventured out beyond the Moana raft and soon appeared only as a dark speck. She was having a lovely swim, when zipl something happened, and that so suddenly that it required some seconds to discover what it was. When the discovery was made, however, she followed her native womanly instinct and emitted one long, loud shriek for help.

She was probably the worst thing she could have done, for it attracted all eyes in her direction and several strong young men, swam fiercely to her assistance, emitting half strangled cries of encouragement.

"Don't come! Don't come! Help! Help!" she cried, her voice rising above the roar of the surf. The life savers are not equipped with long range life saving apparatus so they kept right on.

"What's the matter—cramps?" asked the first man at her side.

"No, it isn't that. Oh, it's terrible!" she cried.

"Man eating eel bite you?" queried a second.

"No—no, but it's awful!"

"Well, what is it?" yelled the chorus.

Selecting a man whose water-soaked countenance and general bearing, indicated a kind heart, she drew him to her side. "My bathing suit—oh, I don't know how to tell you—"

"Never mind," said the kind hearted man, "I understand," and he dispatched couriers to the bath house.

One returned with a suit which was not a dream such as the Paris creation which had proved no more substantial than a dream, but was strong and durable and as it was designed for one of

LIND MAKING PROGRESS IS REPORT

Understood That Wilson Administration Is Pleased With Results So Far Achieved by Special Envoy Carrying Out Delicate Mission to the City of Mexico.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) WASHINGTON, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—It was stated today that substantial progress has been achieved, in the opinion of the administration, by John Lind in the discharge of his delicate mission to Mexico.

They feel that the American embassy's advisor at least has made a breach in the wall which theoretically had been erected by the Mexican government to obstruct his negotiations. The presentation he has already made is understood to be only of a preliminary character and will be followed by others setting out more in detail, the object which the American administration had in mind in dispatching him to the City of Mexico.

The delivery of those supplementary communications will depend entirely upon the reception accorded the American government's first communication. This is now under careful consideration.

It is believed that there is now the promise for the ultimate success of the negotiations.

It is understood that while so far there has been nothing in the nature of a demand for the withdrawal of General Huerta from the presidency for the arbitrary fixing of the date for a general election, there is nevertheless a distinct intimation of the administration's belief that some concession should be made by the Huerta government to terminate the present insurrection and to insure the ascendancy of a truly popular government.

DEMOCRATS WOULD CONTROL COMMITTEE

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) WASHINGTON, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Democratic members of the senate foreign relations committee have determined that if the investigation of Mexican border conditions and the changes of American financial support to revolutionists is to be continued by the special subcommittee that worked along the border last year, that committee will be rebuilt so that its control will rest with Democratic senators.

The investigation conducted last year was under the direction of Senator Smith of Michigan and Senator Fall, Republicans, who are now preparing reports.

The foreign relations committee will determine during the coming week as to whether the investigation is to be carried on.
